TAI CHI

The prime purpose of Tai Chi is to promote health in a slow, relaxed manner. Director of the Tai Chi and Chi Kung Institute, Master Allan Kelson, says Tai Chi is like karate in slow motion. "There is a great emphasis on posture and balance," he says. Master Kelson says Tai Chi, when practised regularly, enhances the function of the central nervous system, keeps joints flexible and improves the function of internal organs. "Tai Chi is not strenuous on the body and can be performed by young and old," he says. "You don't need special clothing or equipment and it allows people to get outside and enjoy the natural environment."

ADELAIDE'S MIDWEEK NEWS REVIEW

CELEBRITY

ABBA's Frida follows our Master Allan into chi kung

FRIDA has dropped the jangly moves that went with the "Ring, Ring" video clip and the loose swaying of "Fernando" for the controlled, choreographed movements of chi kung - taught by Adelaide Master Allan Kelson.

The woman with the strong eye teeth and red hair from Swedish '70s sensation ABBA, took up chi kung (related to tai chi) about a year ago.

Mr Kelson, who runs the Tai Chi and Chi Kung Institute, in Adelaide, was asked Adelaide's Master Allan Kelson (at left) with former ABBA singer Frida, and (above) Mr Kelson leads Frida and other members of a chi kung session during his visit to Sweden.

Chi Kung and tai chi are a form of slow, choreographed movement, meant to bring health and wellbeing by focusing the "chi" or energy in the body.

They are practised early in the morning by millions of people in China.

Tai Chi has its origins in martial arts and is about 350 years old and chi kung is closer to yoga and goes back 2000 years, Mr Kelson says.

Mr Kelson took up chi kung and tai chi 21 years ago after a football accident injured his back.

He is now a member of the World Academic Society of Qigong (Chi Kung) in China.

to go to Sweden by a fellow chi kung expert and found himself giving Frida and her husband Prince Russo Reuss private lessons in their home.

Notoriously reclusive, Frida has now asked Mr Kelson to go back to Sweden for another stint of intensive training.
